Woven Electronics Named as Northrop Grumman Bronze Supplier

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct 7, 2004—Woven Electronics has been named as a 2003 Bronze Supplier for Northrop Grumman. The award was received September 16, 2004 at the Northrop Grumman Preferred Supplier's Conference in Baltimore, Maryland.

Only the top one percent of Northrop Grumman's suppliers has received this honor. It is awarded to those suppliers who are consistently on-time with strict adherence to Northrop's quality standards. "At Woven Electronics, we take manufacturing quality and customer deadlines very seriously, and it's nice to be recognized by one of our best customers," said Tom Lappin, Woven Electronics quality manager.

Woven Electronics is a leading provider of interconnect and packaging solutions for the military, medical, security and aerospace industries. With over 40 years of packaging experience, engineering knowledge and manufacturing expertise, Woven's objective is to provide the best possible solution at the most economical price. Perfect quality, long term reliability, and exact delivery is mandatory.
